Climbing the Right Mountain: Finding Fulfillment In Your Career and Your Life

As a leader, how do you know when you are fulfilled? If we view our careers as climbing up a mountain with many challenges and stops along the way, we are focused intently on reaching that summit. We use all of our gifts, talents, grit, and determination to scale that mountain. Some of us climb to the peak, and when we take a moment to pause, we notice that we feel a little underwhelmed. While we are proud of what we have accomplished, we find ourselves asking new questions and ready to discover what's next.

Key Takeaways:

- Determine if you are aligned with your long term goals
- Choosing the right places to invest your effort/energy?
- 8 Guideposts to find your mountain
- Techniques to evaluate your path and continuously calibrate your bearings

Your Untapped Power: Using Your Story to Inspire Transformation

Do you know how powerful you truly are? Can you see your own brilliance? Humans are wired for stories, and sometimes the stories we tell ourselves don't serve us well. Through my client work and by interviewing hundreds of inspiring guests for "The Virtual Campfire Podcast," I have discovered that when you commit to understanding and owning your true story, you will uncover things you never clearly understood about yourself and others. Once we embrace the power of our stories, then we can use this clarity to propel ourselves and many others forward.

Key Takeaways:

- How to courageously share the dark side of your story
- How to uncover the elements of your hero's journey
- How to re-frame your past challenges into strengths
- What it means to transcend and include your past
