The Alliance of Divine Love Newsletter

JULY 2024

There is a trend among humans at this time in which it appears that time is running short, resources are limited, and we are fast approaching a calamity, either personal or collective. We can change our perspective about this (and thus change the outcome) by using Nature as a guide. As the sunflower does not worry about tomorrow's weather, our frame of mind need not be anxious about the future. A larger Hand is at play here, and we are each here to be the best version of ourselves that we can in each moment. As we live that truth, we can rest in the arms of the Infinite, knowing we are safe. Wise men and women have always known this. "Nature does not hurry, yet everything is accomplished." - Lao Tzu

Roger That...

by Rev. Estelle Thibodeau

I shouldn't have been there. I hadn't slept well. I was hungry, and I was too indifferent to do anything about that rumbling beast. The day was brilliant, summertime so thick, the blazing tar on the street shimmered upwards, The heat haze, a pestilent mirage, shifted on seesaws, back and forth; and then, "poof" into the solid, cloudless beaming blue sky.

Saying "NO" Gracefully, Part 1

By Rev. Rita Scheibeck

"Just say no." Sounds easy and looks good on paper, right? It's something that many of us know we need to do more often than not, yet somehow ends up being just a phrase that gets lost in the shuffle of our thoughts, our emotions, and our tight schedules.

Saying "NO" Gracefully, Part 2

By Rev. Rita Scheibeck

Last week we talked about some of the mental and emotional roadblocks to decluttering our lives by saying "no" more often. As we discussed, it's not as easy to say no as it might seem.
