BIOGRAPHIC DATA:

- Full Legal Name: [CLASSIFIED — DISTRIBUTION RESTRICTED].
- Operational Designation: "Sarah".
- Background: Eight-year Agency veteran specializing in human intelligence collection within high-threat environments. Currently serving as the primary handler for Operation Black Dawn's front-line assets.

PSYCHOLOGICAL PROFILE: Precise, competent, alert, and carefully uncommitted to any reading of a situation that she hasn't verified against raw empirical evidence. She operates in a highly calculated middle register—neither warm nor cold. She is inherently skeptical of institutions in the specific way of someone who understands them intimately from the inside.

OPERATIONAL THREAT ASSESSMENT: UNRESOLVED VARIABLES Sarah possesses a unique, highly effective methodology for source handling. Notably, she is the only officer on the Agency's books who has successfully managed John Drake, providing him with intelligence that is directionally correct but tactically contained. However, internal review teams have flagged a critical, unresolved question: Does Sarah genuinely believe the official baseline of Black Dawn, or has she successfully read between the lines of her own intelligence feeds to draw her own, unfiled conclusions?

FIELD SECURITY NOTE: The trust between Sarah and Drake is highly fractured, yet entirely real. She moves within a dangerous gray zone, maintaining institutional loyalty while occasionally making independent field calls to keep her assets alive.
