
Session Transcript

Hi there, we use an app to convert your transmission into a summary. We hope that this makes connecting with the content of your transmission more accessible at a glance.
However, we wanted to let you know this because it sometimes struggles to give a fully accurate representation of all that happens during a session. This can often come up as a mistranslation of your name, codes or other words used. Thanks for your understanding :)

0:00:04

All right everybody, welcome to today's session. There's a really beautiful intention housed within this one, because in so many of the previous transmissions that have led to this moment, there's been this real focus on clearing the contracting energies. And the purpose and the intention within today is expand and amplify, laying joy and flow as the foundation, and claiming this as the foundation, and embracing this. And so I invite you as you settle in, you might want to place your hands over your heart, over your navel, or just rest comfortably. You'll know what feels best for you. And as you breathe and tune deeper into this intention, inviting you into deeper presence with yourself and the invitation for the full embracing of the principles of joy and flow.

0:01:46

One of the foundational beliefs that I hold is that we have the field of infinite potential, meaning there are all these variables and ways out there. every timeline of existence, every possibility. Through our conscious choice, through embodiment, we're actively shaping the pathway, the flow, and the experience because of where we place our focus, because of what we claim as our truth and lived reality, and because of our willingness to receive and embrace and live from the knowing that the flow state, joy, is already there. And even if in life right now, there can be places of restriction and challenge. The invitation is to hold the frequency as feels authentic and true for you, as if it is right now. And as we move through our transmission clearing focus today, is to come back to that space as you are prompted, as a profound intelligence, wisdom, and depth within each and every person.

0:03:36

There is the Christed nature within each and every person, your beautiful God intelligence. And here in this moment, we call this space into presence. coherence, and alignment. Our declaration of intention is to serve our source and commit to the highest growth path completely, fully, and totally, clearing any agreement, contract, or imprint, known or unknown, seen or unseen, felt or unsensed across all timelines, levels, dimensions, harmonics, realities, and places and spaces of experience. And we call back all energies power and presence that belongs to each and every person in this space throughout the duration of this time together running the return to rightful owner protocols bathed cleansed and purified all energies in the cosmic christ light as we open the space in alignment to the law of one over lighted supported through the pure intention of holy mother holy father the divine masculine feminine principles we are god we are sovereign and we are free claiming this truth here and now and making this known here and now and with this declaration of intention made holding yourself with an ever -increasing frequency or presence acknowledgement of flow, of joy, and of your attractive field growing, your authentic truth radiating, your sovereign essence expanding.

0:06:15

And as you hold that intention and breathe into that space, looking into the energetic template that presents for this collective, and what comes up is the image of a crystalline figure, like a human, a person, and they're inside a 2D square. And that 2D square is inside a 3D cube. And the 3D cube is inside a 4D megastructure. I suppose it's also a cube. And on every corner of one of these places, there is a black clasp. So we have the crystalline figure, a square, a cube, and a box.

0:07:12

And a clasp on each corner where they connect. Then there are three vertical pipes that are present. These are black. There are five horizontal pipes. These are also black. And there are eight diagonals.

0:07:37

and these are also black. And so while there are also images in there that relate to flow, everything within this image represents containment. So the figure, the core, the individual is not the problem or the challenge. It's the field around them, the containment. And so the container around each individual's life will have its own structure controlled by its own clasps, as well as this, almost like a prism.

0:08:27

the rules that reality reflects back, plays by, and this is the focus for today. I don't know if I've ever seen an image quite like that one before, which is really exciting because it really does hold a frequency of a new environment, a new way of interacting with the environment, a new way of receiving, new ways of hearing, new ways of being. So humbly requesting through the Christic selves of each individual, through the highest Christic powers, Holy Mother, Holy Father, the Divine Masculine and Feminine, calling on the equal opposites of all frequencies contained within this frequency fence, within this containment structure, merging those together and running through the harmonics, and then running the Christed principles and frequencies through this in the best possible way, calibrated to each individual according to their unique structure. And so as we look into the square, it's two -dimensional, this is instinctual programs, and the image that comes up out of that is the pain body. This here is the opposite to joy, in a way.

0:10:02

We see the expression of joy on one side, held and anchored by the expectation of pain, or the instinctual responses. This then links into childhood moments, memories, traumas, ancestral, Templates that there's a lot of images around the the blood or the bloodline Ancestral clearing very strong within this now the branch runs off represents the soul extensions past lives and then there's an image within there It's like a scale and it represents aliveness or vitality the weight in the instinctual self Throwing the the internal container out and creating the world of fear around the self the identity manifests in good things happening and individuals pulling away, opportunities that can't be taken because there is a fear program that is running. What if I am hurt? What if something goes wrong? What if I am rejected, unloved? What if I am too much?

0:11:26

And so on. So this is a real beautiful clearing for the pain body, the instinctual contraction energies, and how that is then creating the prison architecture around your true core. And that's very much what that crystalline figure represents. It's your true core, the ultimate expression of freedom, liberty, empowerment, love, joy. Here and now running a flush through this, Holy Mother, Holy Father, clearing out all entity attachments in here.

0:12:17

repairing the levels of the light body, directly affected and indirectly affected in any way, shape, and form, and removing the spiral energies that represent contortion, contraction, and fear, humbly requesting the equal opposites for all fear states, unconscious embedded beliefs, story identification, looping patterns, anchors, limiters, and frequency fencing housed within the instinctual mind, the 2D, and anywhere else that this is even remotely present, calibrated to each individual to allow one's personal container, life experience, opportunity, vitality, and anything else that is Christically aligned and available here to be made known and available to each individual running this flush now. One of the beautiful energies that is very strong and very present within here is each person's inner core, your own personal Christic God -source nature, that because of the yes claimed here on the embodied, there's this beautiful cleaning, clearing, and support that's coming from your innermost self, your God -source, and a beautiful frequency that's running through there. So as that continues to run into this 3D cube, and as we tune into the image of the 3D cube, Everything that that represents it's the ego or the egoic mind. The first one was more instinctual unconscious This one represents the personnel the call that personal identity This is like seeing things of to -do lists and tasks and chores and it's all very linear logical It's the logical mind. This is the identity that was both Decided by yourself and the identity that was shaped by or decided by others here There's a whole series of mental and somatic insertions.

0:15:12

When I say somatic insertion, it's something that would be embedded inside the fascia nervous system. It's a hijacker within authentic expression, spontaneity. something there that collapses the ability to receive laughter, true joy, variety of other pieces. This 3D cube holds templates of responsibilities that built on fear or control, seriousness, over and distorted responsibilities. And inside this sphere, sphere, cube, there are the imprints of many others creating filters and ways of being as here would directly correlate into experiences where you yourself know how much work you've done and then you find yourself in an environment with somebody who knew you from your past and you find behaviors shift or their overlay sticks on you this is a beautiful flush out all of these overlays allowing the complete rediscovery and the redefinition of who you truly are not shaped and molded by the mental plane in the best possible way calling forth for the removal of all architecture related to limitation, obligations, contraction, time pressure.

0:17:25

The symbol appears over here that's related to time constraints or time evaporation, lag and delay. I'm running a full Christic flush in the best possible way for every individual overlighted by their true Christic self, Holy Mother, Holy Father, for authentic self -expression, for the dissolving of the 3D cube, everything that it represents, the mental prison. mental constructs, rules, regulations, the way things are, or the way things should be, non -serving perceptions, the interesting energy that comes in of conflict, where one has an intention that's heart -inspired, but their own mind throws up the barriers and the restrictions in front of themselves, it's the self or the ego wrestling itself, or ego wrestling the heart, running a full flush throughout all of this now, setting this to run for the duration of this transmission, for as long as seen fit by Holy Mother, Holy Father, for the claiming of the authentic expression, the flow state, the joy state, the expansion of the self, the claiming of space. Beautiful image here, just encourage everyone in their own way to connect with their inner child and the space that it was never allowed to hold, their teenage self and the space it was never allowed to hold, adult self and the space it was never allowed to hold, and to hold that space for yourself here and now, pushing out all astral attachments, chords, chord attachments, insertions, hijacks, emotional control and mental control tethers, all architecture linked to black cube energies in any way, shape, and form, and calling on the equal opposites to the frequencies of fear, grief, apathy, guilt, and shame, and wherever they are present within anybody's identity, conscious or subconscious. I'm flushing this out now.

0:20:36

As that continues to run, we have this other more multi -dimensional box cube. This is a fourth dimensional structure and it represents astral containment. been working through from the instinctive response, the mental self, the intellectual self, and then here into the astral. And the image that comes through as we're on this is something that looks like a strangling vine or ivy, old man's beard, sort of creeping vines that wrap themselves around and strangle out the life force of other plants. And in this situation, it is strangling out the light or the acceptance, the willingness, the expansion of the soul stream particularly between the fourth, fifth, and sixth dimensional levels. This is the heart field and higher.

0:21:59

Now in this, there's also a lot of artificial energies that are present. This is conditioning. These are broadcast signals. It's a strong webbing that grafts itself into the stream of consciousness. For myself, that would look like a beam of light with these cables that wrap around it. And then if something like blackberry burrs in there and they hook in, grafted into the stream.

0:22:35

And this restricts the ability to receive. It's also a restrictor, and when one shifts to get out of an energy, they find themselves trapped deeper inside of it or that it returns. Interesting, the image actually of the type of weed, they're very noxious, so there's a self -regenerating quality to that. It's less about dealing with the weeds and more about into the core resonator within the soul wound and then flushing out them. There's a whole structural belief within this that says you may grow, you may experience, but only within a set of rules, only within what is permitted, only within what is safe, and safe is a control system within this context. Again, it is all containment.

0:23:43

and then the identity forced on an individual, sometimes aggressively, sometimes subtly, to hold that containment in place. The anchor to all of this is a thin black ribbon, a different, more than one, depends. Depending on the individual, there are anywhere from 2 to 37 ribbons currently within each person, which represents a core soul wound, past life experience, fracture, trauma, and intention that created entrapment. You tune in to your own energy field and you tune in to how many of those ribbons there are for you. Feel that and come as a knowing. the highest Christic powers, through Holy Mother, Holy Father God, through the Law of One, requesting now the full resolution of all soul wounds represented in the threads and anything else that they represent, known or unknown, entangling energies, twists in the personal tapestry and story, attachments, bleed -throughs, and requesting the full resolution of this in the best possible way for each individual.

0:25:43

also flushing out all energies connected to the false ascension matrix, false light teachings, comfort implants, astral architecture, and any other energy with the intention to limit expansion, radiance, authentic expression, running a full flush throughout each and every one of these energies in every possible way, shape, and form calibrated to each person, welcoming the frequency of allowing, receiving, and inner transmutation Calling on the Christed principles, running them through this space, thanking Holy Mother, Holy Father for this soul -deep healing and closing of the internal resonators. And as that continues to run, there's an image that would represent, say, awakening. discovery, awareness that comes up. Just welcoming that energy and however it wishes to express itself for you and support you in this moment. So we've been working our way through this meta image cube, square box, and we still have the image of the clasps that is present. The clasps are an attachment.

0:27:38

These are the frequencies that have kept it anchored. These are the frequencies that hold it in place, that keep it playing out. Now lean in and I ask, what are these? They're the lockdown points, specific agreements, vows and promises, broken promises, shames and guilts, astral hijackings through conscious choice, decisions, installed programs, and it's these pieces that hold the geometry of what we saw together. So tuning in to yourself here and now in the recognition that in this lifetime, in other lifetimes, in the full expression and vastness of your consciousness, truly believe we're far more vast than we give ourselves credit for, just recognizing that there are places and spaces in which misaligned energies were at play.

0:29:14

Service to self, violations of sovereignty, the law of one, engagements and energies that were non -serving or control -based, punishment -based. Here and now, according to the heart of each individual, the soul of each individual and the sovereign choice of each individual, requesting the full support for the disentanglement, collapsing, dissolving, all energies present here, represented in the clasps, past, present, future, alternative timelines, and anywhere else that these are in existence, collapsing, dematerializing, dissolving, making null and void, here and now claiming, I am God, I am sovereign, I am free, Returning all energies to each individual in the best possible way, bathed, cleansed and purified. Big image of a metal clamp type. bolts. It's a lockdown, allowing one's life to only expand so far, experiences so far, health, finance, romance, friendship, so on. Every lockdown code currently up for clearing, here and now, through the support of Holy Mother, Holy Father, the sovereign choice of each individual, collapsing these lockdown codes, dissolving and into the core resonator, core wound, this life, past life, other selves, resolving now.

0:31:43

As these clasps begin to just dissolve, turn to dust, cease to exist, inviting each person to connect with their frequency of expansion. It's the claiming of the space. This is the welcoming of the fullness of your expression, the infinite possibility and potential receiving, because it is you able to fill into this space. No conditions, there's no attachments. In this moment it was you here, your soul, consciously deconstructing a prison or an architecture of its own making growth for lessons and here and now filling the new space frequencies of flow and synchronicity and inviting synchronicity to enter to be present and to be received as a code that appears that relates to worthiness i mean by that one is it shows that A reflection comes, there's a synchronicity, the opportunity to ride an energy wave, and then fear or rejection or self -worth, worthiness, will reject that, or only touch on it briefly.

0:33:58

And the invitation within this is, how far can you ride the wave? Because the wave is infinite, and it is literally here to carry you. Thanking the support, Holy Mother, Holy Father, your Christ itself, the angelics, for the collapsing of all artificial structures, energies, distractions, interfering with claiming synchronistic flow, alignment, connection, and maintaining the frequency of the flow path. Nurturing the image of the child, childlike spirit of exuberance, joy, laughter, and play. A beautiful image like a game.

0:35:15

How far can one climb? How far can one jump and move in the sense of discovery? And welcoming that frequency according to each and every individual's unique life path, circumstances, and situations. And as you hold that space within yourself, claiming and living from and embodying synchronicity, flow, and alignment, running a clearing through those black vertical columns, I'm asking about what the first one is. It represents joy that is suppressed at the root. The bottom of this column is anchored into the root, tailbone for some, root chakra for others, bones can be a trauma, but it is a lockdown of joy.

0:36:28

This blocks the ascending energies. creates heaviness and density and frustration. Then the other column is a block on the descending current. Here is where one's inspiration gets interrupted or distracted from, or it can't materialize, because through this column there are a series of rings linking to much of the energies that we've cleared already, but a few personal energies that circulate. And then the central one shows that it's broken, cracked, or limited. This is vertical sovereignty.

0:37:24

This is your empowerment. This is drive, motivation, energy. This is the vitality of waking up empowered and in flow. Through the support of Holy Mother, Holy Father, running a full clearing, flush, and reconstruction of these energies, converting them from dark to light in the best possible way as seen fit by Holy Mother, Holy Father, repairing power, clearing the blocks on the route of joy, supporting in inspiration and the embodiment of inspiration, the completion, a lot of unclosed loops and energies. closing off all loops that are in non -service and claiming all pathways of the highest activation, highest alignment and highest expression for each individual here and now. Running this all the way through.

0:38:43

Also flushing out the chaotic energies that were present within the inspiration line, flushing out distractions, entities, discordant frequencies, and requesting a full protection of these columns through your highest crystic line, overlighted in the best possible way to support, stabilize, and claim these frequencies. As that continues to run through now, the very strong light that is beginning to enter into the space, surround that crystalline image of the person and its rings of light, soft pink, gold, platinum, silver, and it's building in its frequency. This here is each individual in their own way claiming their space. color tones are unique to each person. This is you claiming, knowing, embodying, deciding, and owning your field, free from the interference on your vertical columns. And as this continues to run, running a flush through the five horizontal interference energies. This is on the relational or the material plane, calling on the equal opposites for all time scarcity, all material pressure, all social permission, all family obligation and senses of duty or limitation, and all relational guardianship. Merging these together, running them through the harmonics and running the Christed principles and frequencies in this place in the best way for each individual. series where one defers their joy for the responsibility of others, or that joy is dependent on financial conditions, that joy is dependent on somebody else's emotional state, or that joy is delayed until something is ticked off a list or is based on what other people think. It's all artificial. Claiming inside this space, here and now, the highest expression of peace and joy for each and every person, removing the cultural overlays, the societal conditions and expectations and limitations, and clearing the morphogenic of the cultural ceilings to allow the frequency of breakthrough, activation, elevation, and claiming to manifest and embody within the lives of each person in the best possible way for them here and now on their purpose path, joy path, life path, lifeline, and claiming it as is here and now. As this continues to run, she felt a real expansion with that other one relative to the cultural webbing. Here it just allows the invitation to be the fullness of yourself. So as this is continuing to run, we also had those black diagonal energies that were coming through. This here relates to one's expansion or the expansion. This is how energy moves between the harmonic planes.

0:40:20

0:42:16

0:43:37

This is from the shift between one state to another. These are sabotage programs. These are the walls or the barriers or the programs that one goes straight into as growth and expansion occurs. You know, one of the images shows somebody running and they hit a plane of glass. So you can see what's on the other side, but there's the barrier. Holy Mother, Holy Father, through the sovereign choice of each and every individual in the best possible way for them, dissolving the glass barriers, the frequency fences, the limitations, the entrapments, and claiming now expanded potential, removing all sabotage programs, clearing and removing the breakthrough reversal, the idea that good things are destroyed when they happen, the joy reversal, This here is that every breakthrough or every good thing will be followed by some form of fall or collapse, a very strong cultural template, ancestral template on that.

0:45:17

Running a healing through the frequencies of watchfulness or vigilance. The idea that one must always be on edge is draining the nervous system. Something bad is coming, draining the nervous system. Running a flush through all guilt anchors. Running a flush through all false joy substitutions. A false joy substitution would be things like dopamine hits, distractions, anything that stimulates but isn't truth.

0:46:06

running a clearing through the swing cycle. This is massive expansion and then massive collapse. Example would be to go from ecstatic, feeling amazing, to then it's complete opposite, heartbroken, depressed. Some, this pendulum swing is massive. For others, it's small, but for everyone, it's draining because it breaks certainty. It also feeds off a sense of identity, which feeds off expectation, which feeds off comparison.

0:46:56

So in the best possible way here and now, running a flush through the swing cycle or the collapse cycle, everything that it represent in terms of extreme polarities. Also running a flush through the joy will come later program. After the breakthrough, after the financial elevation, after the new partner, after, after, I just keep seeing that word flashing. Joy comes later, can't be embodied now. Big clearing that's running now. It actually looks like quite a cancerous structure, that one.

0:47:49

there's lumps and knots all woven into things and they're being dissolved and then next one that is being flushed out and cleared is worthiness. And everyone in various different ways holds their own degree of worthiness. The idea of flow is only for those who deserve it, or it's not for me, or it never arrives. Anywhere from 73 to 92 % of that has been ingrained and conditioned through the parents. And the remainder is almost always from the schooling or programming and conditioning.

0:48:50

reward cycles for control, coercion cycles. Through everything stated, all those levels we were tracking through, what were the eight energies present within those diagonal lines, those black tubes, all of those energies here and now, pulling on the equal opposite frequencies, merging, running through in the Christed principles all the way through and claiming God's sovereign and free, God's sovereign and free throughout all of these harmonic levels, expressions, expansions, calling in the full acceptance of presence, allowing, receiving, exploration, potential, possibility, discovery, releasing the frequencies of expectation. and its collapsing energy within the field, releasing the energies of the tight grip and the control structure, and flushing all of this through, specifically calibrated to each individual, wherever they're at in life, in all spheres and elements of life, to be of the highest service for them in this possible moment, here and now. I'm running that throughout all the harmonic layers, all the way back to origin source. through all joy punishment imprints housed within the sacral energies inside the cellular records, flushing out the extraction codes related to punishment, mockery, or payment, cleaning all of this out, simultaneously running a flush and a clearing through all addiction webbing and false joy circuitry. This is a hijack on the nadial complex, the energetic nervous system, shows an image that represents counterfeit.

0:51:24

So clearing all counterfeit energies within the nodule, sacrum, nervous system and anywhere else that is available to be cleared according to each unique person wherever they are at right now in life and flushing out the addiction webbing and false joy circuitry. a flush out of the astral cording. It's largely linked to past life experiences. These are etheric, like tethers or ropes, cords. It's linked to abandonment. It's linked to pain, hardship, isolation, exiled, all a bunch of other energies and frequencies that come there.

0:52:29

Dematerializing and clearing all of these cords, cables, threads, and residues, and then into the voice suppression but more specifically the the hijack of dreams is when one has shared a dream project something that inspires them or was truly heart led to find that it was interfered with shamed mocked ridiculed put down and what others have done unconsciously consciously is tethered into the dream and there's a weight within there or a sickness within there and there's a full healing, clearing flush that is coming through right now. Beautiful cleaning of dreams, of aspirations. and more specifically of knowing, of knowing the dream that is yours, of the preciousness within the gift, of the rebuilding of those energies, tremendous amount of personal energy that is being returned, cleared, purified, and a rebuilding of the manifestation plane, the belief that not only it could be, but it is, and that each individual, through their connection to Holy Mother Father God, holds the skills, talents, abilities, insights, connections, opportunities to embrace this, to live this, and to flow through this. Here and now, also rebuilding the wider field, an image comes through of the house, the property, the room, the business, the morphogenic field around you that is up for clearing as a representation and an expression of your inner world. Holy Mother, Holy Father, through the principles of God, sovereign and free, to the depth, of each individual's, yes, of their sovereign choice and claiming running a flush of Christic alignment and support, clearing entities, discarnates, miasma, clouds, mucus, webbing, insertion, trauma, limitation, fracture, entanglement, overlay, synthetic energies, human and non -human interference, astral hijacks, soul tethers, mental overlays and insertions, AI hijacks, distortions, fragmentation, clutter, and anything else unstated, but just as relevant, running a full flush through all energies, physical, non -physical, non -serving, over -lighted by your true Christic self, Holy Mother, Holy Father, for a full environmental cleanse and an alignment to match and reflect your new inner frequencies, to support the flow state, to support the expression of joy and alignment.

0:57:05

Really love that running through everyone's environmental spaces, that's beautiful. And so as this time starts wrapping up here and now and those energies are moving through, once more place my intention on the original image. The structures around it are gone and there is simply this invitation to connect to the crystalline energy. This is you. It is your core, your uniqueness, your expression, that unique soul essence before everything was overlaid on it. And as you are connecting to that space, invite childhood integrations to occur or past life integrations to occur.

0:58:08

It can be as simple as holding the intention to come into wholeness and be present with this space. And today there's no closing question because the invitation is to hold this field of expansion and the connection to your innermost core in the allowing of all that can be and all that is and all that is claimed right now. Thank you, we love you and goodbye. Goodbye everyone. transcribed with cockatoo

Session Summary — Group Clearing Transmission

Session Type

Group Energetic Clearing Transmission — Joy, Flow, and Expansion focus. Seventh session in a progressive series. A shift in orientation from previous weeks: rather than primarily clearing contraction, this session focuses on amplifying and laying joy and flow as the foundation. Live and non-live participants included. Transmission coded to meet each individual at their unique field configuration. Session ends without a closing question — the invitation is to simply hold the field of expansion.

Integration Window

Ongoing — container set to continue running for as long as seen fit. Builds directly on the structural clearing work of the previous six weeks, particularly the breakthrough reversal and slavery encryption clearings from Weeks 5 and 6.

Core Intentions Declared

- Shift the foundation from clearing contraction to claiming, amplifying, and embodying joy and flow as the lived default
- Dissolve the full containment architecture surrounding the true core self — represented as a crystalline figure inside nested 2D, 3D, and 4D structures
- Resolve all core soul wounds represented as black anchor ribbons, ranging from 2 to 37 per individual
- Reclaim synchronicity, worthiness, and the capacity to receive and ride the wave of flow without rejection or self-sabotage
- Run a full environmental cleanse of each individual's wider field — home, property, business — to match the new inner frequency

Key Energies and Patterns Cleared

Primary Architecture — The Nested Containment Structure A crystalline human figure identified inside a 2D square, inside a 3D cube, inside a 4D megastructure — each connected by black clasps at every corner, with three vertical pipes, five horizontal pipes, and eight diagonal pipes running through the whole structure, all black. The core figure was identified as whole and uncorrupted — the containment is entirely external to the true self.

The 2D Square — Instinctual Mind and the Pain Body

- The pain body identified as the direct opposite anchor to joy — held in place by instinctual fear responses

- Childhood, ancestral, and bloodline trauma templates linked to this layer — strong ancestral clearing run
- Soul extensions and past lives represented as branches running off this core
- A scale image representing aliveness and vitality, weighted down by instinctual contraction — creating a world of fear around the self
- Fear programs cleared: what if I am hurt, what if something goes wrong, what if I am rejected or unloved, what if I am too much
- Entity attachments within this layer — cleared
- Spiral energies of contortion, contraction, and fear — removed
- All unconscious embedded beliefs, story identification, looping patterns, anchors, and frequency fencing within the instinctual mind — flushed

The 3D Cube — The Egoic and Mental Plane

- Identified as the personal identity structure — both self-decided and shaped by others
- Mental and somatic insertions embedded in the fascia and nervous system — hijacking spontaneity, authentic expression, and the capacity to receive laughter and true joy
- Templates of responsibility built on fear, control, and seriousness — cleared
- Overlays from others — old relationship dynamics resurfacing when encountering people from the past — flushed
- Time constraint, time evaporation, lag, and delay architecture — cleared
- Conflict between heart-inspired intention and self-imposed mental barriers — addressed as ego wrestling itself or wrestling the heart
- Inner child, teenage self, and adult self spaces that were never permitted — reclaimed
- Astral attachments, cord attachments, insertions, hijacks, and emotional and mental control tethers linked to this layer — cleared
- Fear, grief, apathy, guilt, and shame frequencies within identity — flushed

The 4D Structure — Astral Containment

- Strangling vine and ivy imagery — energetic webbing choking the light and expansion of the soul stream between the fourth, fifth, and sixth dimensional levels
- Artificial conditioning signals grafted into the stream of consciousness, described as cables and burrs hooking into a beam of light
- Self-regenerating restrictor pattern: shifting out of an energy often results in becoming more entrapped or returning to it
- Core structural belief cleared: you may grow, but only within permitted rules — safety as a control system
- 2 to 37 black anchor ribbons identified per individual — representing core soul wounds, past life experiences, fractures, traumas, and entrapment intentions — full resolution requested
- False ascension matrix, false light teachings, comfort implants, and astral architecture limiting expansion and radiance — flushed

The Clasps — Lockdown Points

- Identified as specific agreements, vows, broken promises, shame, guilt, astral hijackings through conscious choice, decisions, and installed programs
- Service to self, sovereignty violations, and control or punishment-based engagements across timelines — disentangled and dissolved
- Metal clamp and bolt imagery — lockdown codes limiting expansion of health, finance, romance, and friendship to a fixed ceiling — collapsed and resolved at the core resonator level

The Three Vertical Columns

- First column: joy suppressed at the root, anchored in the tailbone and root chakra — blocking ascending energy and creating heaviness, density, and frustration
- Second column: block on the descending current — inspiration interrupted, distracted from, or unable to materialise
- Central column: vertical sovereignty — empowerment, drive, motivation, and vitality — identified as broken, cracked, or limited
- All three columns cleared, reconstructed, and converted from dark to light, with unclosed loops closed

The Five Horizontal Lines — Relational and Material Plane

- Time scarcity, material pressure, social permission, family obligation, duty, and relational guardianship — cleared
- Patterns where joy is deferred for others' responsibility, made conditional on finance, dependent on others' emotional states, or delayed until conditions are met — identified as artificial and flushed
- Cultural overlays, societal conditioning, and morphogenic cultural ceilings — cleared to allow breakthrough and elevation

The Eight Diagonal Lines — Expansion and Sabotage Programs

- Identified as the barriers that activate specifically during growth and expansion — the glass wall one runs into when things begin to shift
- Breakthrough reversal and joy reversal: the pattern of good things being followed by collapse — cleared, building on Week 5's breakthrough reversal work
- Watchfulness and vigilance — the nervous system drain of always waiting for something bad
- Guilt anchors — flushed
- False joy substitutions: dopamine hits and distractions that stimulate without truth — cleared
- The swing cycle: massive expansion followed by massive collapse, draining certainty and feeding identity through comparison — cleared
- Joy will come later program: joy deferred until after some future condition is met — identified as a cancerous, knotted structure and dissolved
- Worthiness — identified as 73-92% conditioned through parents, with the remainder from schooling and reward-based coercion cycles — cleared

Sacral and Nervous System

- Joy-punishment imprints housed in cellular records within the sacral energies — flushed
- Extraction codes related to punishment, mockery, or payment — cleared
- Addiction webbing and false joy circuitry identified as a hijack on the nadial complex — counterfeit energies cleared from the node system, sacrum, and nervous system

Astral Cording and the Hijack of Dreams

- Astral cords linked to abandonment, pain, hardship, isolation, and exile — dematerialised
- The hijack of dreams: moments where a heart-led dream or project was shared and met with interference, shame, mockery, or ridicule, creating a tether and a weight on that dream — fully healed and cleared
- Manifestation plane rebuilt — shifting belief from it could be to it is

Environmental Field

- Full environmental cleanse run across home, property, business, and the wider morphogenic field as a reflection of the inner world

- Cleared: entities, discarnates, miasma, mucus, webbing, insertions, trauma, fractures, entanglements, overlays, synthetic energies, human and non-human interference, astral hijacks, soul tethers, mental overlays, AI hijacks, distortions, fragmentation, and clutter

Blind Spots Illuminated

- The core was never the problem. Throughout the entire architecture explored in this session, the crystalline figure at the centre — representing the true self — remained intact and uncorrupted. Every layer of struggle, contraction, and limitation exists in the containment around the self, not within the self.

- Joy deferred is joy denied. The belief that joy comes later — after the breakthrough, after the financial shift, after the relationship — was identified as one of the most structurally damaging patterns present, described as cancerous in its woven density. Joy that is conditional on a future state cannot be embodied now, and therefore never arrives.

- The swing cycle feeds identity through comparison. Extreme highs followed by extreme lows are not random emotional weather — they are a structure that maintains a sense of identity by constantly referencing what was lost or what could be regained. This pattern drains the nervous system regardless of its amplitude.

- Worthiness is overwhelmingly inherited, not earned or chosen. The vast majority — 73 to 92% — of one's sense of whether they deserve flow, ease, or good things was installed by parents, with the remainder from schooling and reward-coercion systems. This is not a personal failing; it is conditioning that can be examined and released.

- Dreams that were shamed get tethered, not just discouraged. When a heart-led dream or project is mocked or shamed by others, it doesn't simply create discouragement — it creates an energetic tether and a felt weight on that specific dream, which continues to drain energy from it long after the original moment has passed.

- Synchronicity is already present and infinite — the block is in receiving it. The wave of flow and synchronistic opportunity is described as constant and infinite. The limiting factor is not its availability but the worthiness-based rejection or partial engagement that prevents someone from riding it fully.

- The outer environment reflects the inner architecture. The physical spaces one inhabits — home, property, workspace — carry their own field of entities, overlays, and clutter that mirrors and reinforces the inner structures. Clearing the inner without addressing the outer leaves a feedback loop intact.

Action List — To Implement Now

Claim Joy as Present, Not Future

- Notice any internal narrative that places joy, ease, or reward after a condition is met — after the money arrives, after the relationship resolves, after the project succeeds
- Each time this arises, consciously choose: I hold this frequency now, as if it is already true
- This is not denial of current circumstance — it is refusing to outsource joy to an imagined future moment

Ribbon Inquiry

- Tune into your own field and sense how many black anchor ribbons feel present for you — there is no need to identify their stories
- Simply hold the intention: I request the full resolution of all soul wounds represented in these threads, known or unknown
- Return to this regularly — resolution continues to run in the background

Riding the Wave

- When synchronicity, opportunity, or unexpected good arises, notice your instinct to pull back, minimise it, or only partially engage
- Ask: how far can I let myself ride this?
- Practice staying with the wave even slightly longer than feels automatic — this builds the capacity to receive

Reclaiming the Dream

- Identify a dream, project, or aspiration that was once shamed, mocked, or shut down by someone else's reaction
- Acknowledge the weight that has sat on it since
- Reconnect with the original preciousness of that dream — not the version shaped by others' responses, but the version that was truly yours

The Swing Cycle Check-In

- Notice when you are in an extreme high or an extreme low
- Ask: is this state being used to define who I am right now? Would I still be okay if this swung back to neutral?
- The goal is not to eliminate highs and lows, but to loosen their grip on identity

Environmental Awareness

- Take a look around your living and working spaces with fresh eyes
- Notice anything that feels heavy, cluttered, or out of alignment with where you are now
- Small physical clearing — decluttering, cleaning, rearranging — can support the inner clearing that has run in this session

Reconnect with the Crystalline Core

- In quiet moments, bring to mind the image of the crystalline figure — your essence before any overlay
- There is no task attached to this beyond presence: simply hold the intention of coming into wholeness and being with that space
- Allow childhood or past life integrations to occur naturally, without needing to direct them

Repeat Listening

- Return to the recording — it is coded to continue working on additional layers of the containment structure wherever it remains active
- This session in particular is designed to be revisited as a foundation-setting practice for joy and flow

Summary prepared for integration and reference purposes. All material is drawn directly from the live group transmission.