Intentions for this Salon

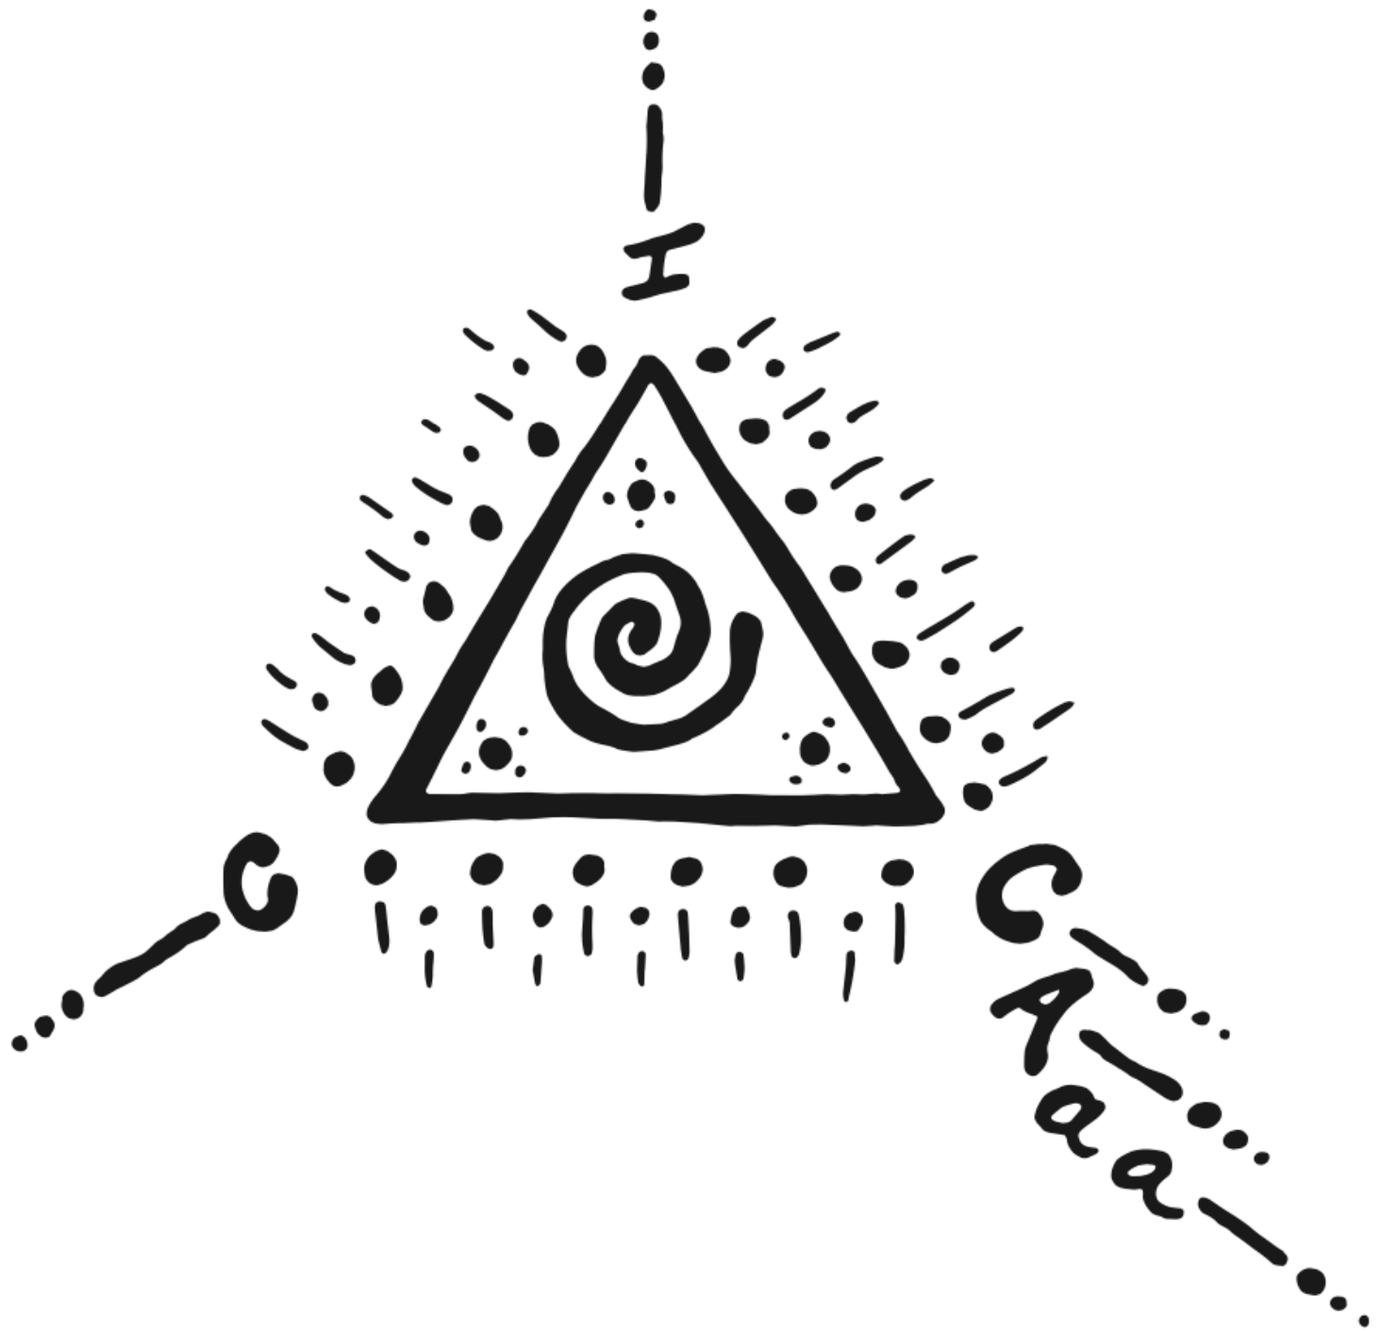

In this Salon we will dive into the Magic Triangle framework…

∞This framework helps cultivate awareness, supports you in creating the RIGHT intention, and becomes the container for creating good #everyday magic in any context.

The Magic Triangle consists of three points:
∞ Intention
∞ Container
∞ Creation (AA+A)

#Together we will learn all about the foundations of manifestation, learn how "ICC" can act as your north star, and be able to create your own Magic Triangle to help cultivate and guide your life and livelihood.

Remember about containers?

Containers allow for the flow of all that will be…

Containers of the Mystic:
~ Wheel
~ Rings
~ Triangle
~ Prism

And of course…..

Books, courses, memberships, service offerings and more.

The Wheel is a container for your life, livelihood, intentions, thought leadership and more.

About “Creation”

Creation encompasses so much …

It’s the intersection of so much you are mastering:
~ Chop Wood Carry Water
~ While you pray move your feet
~ Aligned Action
~ Alchemy

And of course…..

…your life force energy, your prayer in form.

About Intention

Your intention is everything…

An ancient cross-traditional truth:
~ Magic
~ Strategy
~ Sacred Space
~ Crystal work

And of course…..

Alchemy, manifestation, transformation and more.

the word "intention" shows up on over 71 of 300 pages of "The Mystics Path" book.

The Magic Triangle

The “magic triangle” is a framework for cultivating awareness and supporting the creation of magic in any context. The magic triangle consists of three points: intention, container, and creation. Furthermore, one must always consider the concepts of aligned action and alchemy.

Intention: What is your desire? What are you holding in your mind’s eye that you want to create? What is your intention for that creation? Examples of an intention could be manifesting love, starting a family, bringing in abundance, healing, or making any kind of life change. It’s important for your intention to be clear, precise, and specific. Write it down; create an intention board; draw it; paint
it. Do whatever feels right for you to become clear about what you really want.

Container: Every idea needs a container to bring it into the physical world. A container could be a website, a room or office, or an empty wallet. Crystal grids are great containers for holding energetic intentions. An event, retreat, or meetup can be a container. How will you create and manage the container for your intention to manifest?

Creation: Creation is using your life force energy to take action. We can sit around all day dreaming of our intention and holding our container, but real magic needs action to bring it into form. Creation has two components: aligned action and alchemy.

> Aligned Action: Taking aligned action means the steps we actually take are in alignment with who we are, our values, and the conscious intention we have set. It can mean showing up for work, sending a newsletter, setting up a grid, or calling that special person and inviting them for coffee.
> Alchemy: Alchemy exists in the space where we invite magic by creating a structure, or home, for the magic to exist within. This is where we look at things differently, mystically. What’s on the other side? What rituals am I engaged in? How could

I shift something to allow the magic to happen? Have I used the beauty way to create sacred space? The Modern Mystic makes alchemy via a combination of the intention and the container. It’s how we invite the new and make room for the magic to happen. This is the really fun part! Play with it. Challenge your assumptions. Step into the space with a heart open to all possibilities.
